BAKE SALE AT VALENTINES DANCE

from 8:30
* * *

Gayle will have a sale of your beautiful bakery goods. you may call one of the people on the front if further information is needed; or just bring what you have prepared and await the sighs of appreciation.

THE DRAFT:

Besides culminating the Eastlake Community Council's 1975 Membership Drive, the Valentines Dance may be an excuse to celebrate the completion of the draft Seattle City Charter, a copy of which will be there at the dance. Personalized copies may be obtained at room 611, Alaska building (583-6530).

THE STREET:

Some idea of how Fairview will look in the future will be unveiled at the Valentines Dance, February 15th. There will be trees, people, and room for people. Seeing is believing.

THE SCHOOL:

The PTSA and the student planners have come up with some fine ideas on the playground improvements at Seward. Their work will be on display downstairs at Bumgardner's during the dance.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD:

Getting a better idea on who is where and why he/she is there may be visualized in Bumgardner's basement on the evening of February 15th, coincidentally, the night of the Eastlake Community Valentine's Dance. See your apartment through a zoning overlay!

THE LAKE:

Lanky but lovely Mr. Miller has passed his rubber tipped pointer to Paul Kraabel who will now be the head of the Planning & Urban Development Committee. Mr. Miller knew how Eastlake felt about the shoreline. Please note the Shorelines Master Program hearing dates and let our appointed representative know where you stand.

EASTLAKE COMMUNITY COUNCIL NEIGHBORHOOD SURVEY

March, 1974

"Towards a Sense of Community" is a major objective of the Eastlake Community Council. With Lake Union at our feet and the freeway at our backs, the Eastlake area is conveniently located between downtown and the University District. It's a nice place to live. The Eastlake Community Council works against those things which tend to brake down our community and for those which lend to its development. This questionnaire was prepared to get a better idea of our direction for this year. The questions that follow are general. Please feel free to add your comments. Yes no

1. Do you feel a survey such as this is an invasion of privacy?
2. Should the community have a meeting hall, as at Seward School?
3. Should programs for the elderly be developed in this community?
4. Does the community have satisfactory police protection?
5. Is animal control a problem here?
6. Is the street lighting satisfactory?
7. Are you afraid to walk the streets alone? (day) (night)
